Update

Dear Parents/Carers,

We've had a great week at Lindridge with lots of new learning taking place!

We are focusing our Celebration Assembly certificates up until half term on Knowledge Recall. Can we remember our learning and can we talk about what we have learnt. Ask your children about their learning when they get home. Hopefully they will be able to share lots more with you.

Recommended Reads – we had a query this week about the books on our recommended reads sheets. Just so you all know, each class has the 25 books on their Recommended Reads list in their class book areas. During the year, we encourage them to read all of them. When they have been read, tick them off the list. If you happen to have copies of any of the books at home, then of course read those copies! However, we don't expect any families to have to buy the books.

This Sunday, our Collective Worship ambassadors are taking part in the church service at 9:30am in St Lawrence Church. Please do come; all are welcome.

Have a lovely weekend.

Many thanks

Mrs Helen Hadley

HARES

When our Y6 monitors visited Hares, they have been making animal footprints, they have been using pastels and have also been creating patterns. They've been really enjoying their outdoor provision.

HEDGEHOGS

Hedgehogs said that they have been learning part-whole models and their number bonds. In RE, they've been learning about Challah bread. In History, they could all talk about the Great Fire of London. Plus, they loved poetry day yesterday.

SQUIRRELS

Squirrels have said that they have enjoyed this week, especially their cave men drawings in art that they did by torchlight! They enjoyed learning how to subtract in maths this week and also building their throwing and catching skills in PE..

FOXES

Foxes have been able to recall lots about their history this week where they have been learning about Ancient Baghdad inventors. Our new Football club has been a hit!
