Dear Parents and Carers,

I am pleased to share our Ofsted report following the recent inspection of our school.

The report provides positive recognition of the work undertaken this year and confirms that the improvements we have prioritised through our School Development Plan are the right ones. We are particularly pleased that inspectors recognised the strengthened strategic leadership of the school, the clear direction of travel and the effective steps taken to improve safeguarding, governance and the overall culture of the school.

Most importantly, the report acknowledges that our children feel safe, valued and that they belong. Creating a school where children are happy, supported and able to flourish has been a key priority, and it is encouraging to see this reflected so clearly in the inspection findings.

We were especially delighted by the recognition given to our Early Years provision. Inspectors identified EYFS as a particular strength of the school, highlighting the nurturing environment, strong relationships and the quality of provision that helps our youngest children make an excellent start to their education. This recognition is testament to the dedication, expertise and care shown by our Early Years team every day.

While we are pleased that the strategic work undertaken so far has been recognised, it is equally clear that the next stage of our journey must focus relentlessly on teaching and learning. Ofsted's findings validate our current priorities and reinforce our determination to secure consistently strong classroom practice so that all pupils achieve as well as they can.

We know there is more work to do, but we are encouraged that inspectors recognised both the progress already made and the strong foundations now in place. Thank you for your continued support as we move forward together.

Yours sincerely,

H Hadley
